DID YOU EVER

Own a cow that dropped a healthy, vigorous calf in her nineteenth year? Did you ever know of a cow that made over 25¾ lbs. of butter in seven-day official test, had FOUR A. R. Headed by Pontiac Korndyke, the greatest living sire of the age, being the only living bull in the world with a 30-pound daughter. He is the sire of over 20 officially tested daughters, including Pontiac Rag Apple, 31.62 lbs. butter in 7 days and 126.56 lbs in 30 days at 4 years. His daughters are yet young; all that have been tested were either two or three-year-olds, but one, and 13 official records have been made by his daughters at an average of 2 years, 11 months, 5 days, which average over 20 pounds butter each. No other bull in the world can make such a showing. A limited number of cows will be bred to this great sire during the next 12 months at a reasonable price. Terms will be quoted on application. A few bull calves sired by him, and a limited number of cows and heifers in calf to him are offered for sale now, as we must sell 30 head during the next 20 days. Write me your wants, or come and look the herd over.

Visit of North Garden Farmers' Club, Va., to Dr. S. A. Robinson's Farm.

(From the Southern Planter.)

The North Garden Farmers' Club met at the home of Dr. Samuel Adams Robinson on June 29, 1906. This was not a regular meeting, but Dr. Robinson invited the club and some other guests to meet at his house on that day to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of his father, Rev. John Robinson, who was born near Winchester, Va., on June 29, 1806.

Dr. Robinson is a retired physician from New York City, who in 1904 purchased Cove Lawn, a fine farm of 600 acres near Covesville, Albemarle county, intending it as a home for his son, Mr. Rush Adams Robinson, who died last spring. He has spent a large sum of money in improving it, and now has one of the finest equipped stock and dairy farms in the South.

The club first visted the large cattle barn, which was quite a revelation to them. It is one of the largest barns in this part of the State. It was filled with a herd of the best pure-bred Holstein cattle. The cows were sleek and in excellent condition, weighing from 1,200 to 1,600 pounds each, and have official records of from 60 to 80 pounds of milk per day. All but two of them are in the Advanced Register, and the official records of most of them are from 16 to 26¼ pounds of butter in seven days. Several have been prize winners at the St. Louis Exposition and New York and other fairs. The herd is headed by Pontiac Calypso's Son, a magnificent bull descended from the finest strains of Holsteins. King Ormsby Friend is another very fine bull. His dam produced in an official test 16.22 pounds of butter in seven days when under two years old, and 19.55 as a three-year-old, and Duchess Ormsby, the dam of his sire, made an official record of 24¼ pounds of butter in seven days, her milk testing 5.44 per cent. of fat. But we cannot mention all of the choice animals of this herd. It is undoubtedly the finest herd of Holsteins in the South.

The barn has cement floors and every modern convenience. The cattle are fed and watered in cement troughs. The water is brought from a mountain spring and conducted all through the barn. It can be warmed by steam before reaching the mangers, so that it is never necessary to give the cattle cold water. Fire plugs are in convenient places to use in case of fire. There is a 6-horse power boiler in the barn and a 5-horse power engine furnishing steam and power to do the work of the barn and run a model dairy, which is equipped with all the necessary machinery for making butter and handling milk and cream.

A large cement and steel silo at one end of the barn is also quite a sight. The barn is in charge of Mr. J. B. Loomis, an intelligent and experienced herdsman from New York State. The club members feel very much indebted to him for the courtesy shown them.

Live stock is not the only industry on the farm. For a great many years fine apples have been grown quite extensively, the leading varieties being Albemarle Pippins, Winesaps and York Imperials. The orchards look well, having been carefully pruned and sprayed since the doctor bought the place; and there is a large crop of choice fruit this year on the same trees that bore heavily last year, showing that the doctor's theory that proper cultivation will produce a crop every year is correct. His Albemarle Pippins topped the London market last year. Last year the doctor found an Esopus Spitzenberg tree among his York Imperials, and believing the apples to be as fine as he had ever seen, he sent a box of them to the leading dealers in fancy apples in New York. This firm has for several years handled the product of the Oregon Hood River Apple Growers' Union, which are the highest priced apples in the world, and one of the firm had just returned from Oregon after buying the crop of 1905. The doctor had told them of the tree and that he had spent several years in Oregon and knew Oregon fruit and the method of growing it, and that he had about 75 acres that would grow as fine Spitzenbergs as could be grown in Oregon. They thought the doctor was mistaken as to the quality of fruit he could raise, but after receiving the apples wrote him the following letter:

"New York, Oct. 21, 1906.
"Dr. S. A. Robinson,
"Covesville, Va.

"Dear Sir:—The box of apples you expressed us reached us today, and am pleased to report that we are agreeably surprised to learn that Virginia can produce apples like the sample. It is a revelation, and think you have got a good thing if you can raise that kind of fruit in your orchard. In our conversation with you at our office we were somewhat skeptical of your statements regarding the quality of fruit you could raise. We have every reason to agree with you now, that as fine fruit as is raised in Oregon can be raised on your place. We certainly do believe that it will be advisable for you to set out that variety of fruit in the land that you propose to clear, as we consider that you can make no mistake in doing so.

"RAE & HATFIELD."

Last winter the doctor went to Oregon and selected 10,000 scions from the finest Spitzenberg trees in Hood River Valley and sent them here by express. Prof. William B. Alwood had in the meantime procured the best and hardiest stocks to graft the Spitzenbergs on, and after the scions came put out a nursery of 18,000 root grafts and two-year-old trees, which are doing well. The doctor cleared about thirty acres of his Spitzenberg land last winter and will start his orchard soon. Prof. Alwood has been the doctor's counsel ever since he bought the farm. There are about 200 acres in crops on the farm, which are looking well.

Mr. John MacGregor, an experienced farmer and horticulturist, is the doctor's farm manager, and took great pleasure in showing the members of the club over the place.

There is a new two-story sheep barn, 20 by 60, and a two-story implement barn, 18 by 45, with a lean-to 12 by 45, and an engine house, 15 by 18; a new hog barn, 22 by 48, with cement floors and running water; a new corn house, which will hold over 2,000 bushels; a flock of pure-bred Dorset sheep, 60 grade Berkshires and a pure-bred boar; ample machinery and tools, including 15-horse power portable engine, silage cutter, four wagons, seven mules, two yoke of good oxen, etc., etc.

After being entertained in old Virginia style by the doctor and his accomplished daughter-in-law, the club passed a vote of thanks and adjourned.

J. G. MARTIN, Sec.

Alfalfa.

GREAT FOOD FOR HORSES.

Some experiments carried on proved the great utility and cheapness of a proper combination of alfalfa and corn in feeding horses. Without going into details we will state that we have found that with our six work horses a daily ration of fifteen pounds or so of hay and a dozen ears of corn will keep a horse weighing 1,500 pounds in good working condition. We know of no combination of food that is equal to alfalfa and corn. The Utah Experiment Station has made very thorough experiments in comparing the economy of alfalfa and timothy as horse feed. In every instance it was proved that the alfalfa was greatly ahead of timothy both in cheapness and promoting good condition. Some of the figures may prove interesting. It was found that twenty pounds of alfalfa a day would maintain the weight of horses weighing nearly 1,400 pounds when at rest. When at work, 32.62 pounds a day was necessary.

In Fort Atkinson, just at present, alfalfa hay is worth $10 a ton. Ear corn is selling for the same price, and strangely enough timothy hay is also selling for $10 a ton. This shows that prices in the market are not based upon nutritive value whatever. Hence the importance to the former of understanding the nutritive value of the different foods he raises either to sell or feed. Alfalfa hay should sell at $20 a ton at least, when timothy brings $10, if we compare their real value in nutrition. With corn and alfalfa hay at the same price per ton, we can easily see the greater economy of feeding horses on those two feeds and not on timothy and grain. The comparative economy in feeds is as yet but little studied or known. Alfalfa is a great thing for growing colts. There would not be so much complaint of undersized and light boned horses if it was more generally used.—The Speed Bulletin.

We are very much pleased with the results derived from our advertising with you, and will also state that your breezy little journal is read from cover to cover each issue.

A Remarkable Record.

In these columns last spring somewhat extended mention was made of the purchase by Mrs. Laura M. Meyer, Marcy, N. Y., of a number of high-class Holsteins from Brookside herd, owned by the Stevens Brothers-Hastings Company, Lacona and Liverpool, N. Y. The shipment consisted of Pontiac Champion, a son of the world's record heifer, Pontiac Columbo, and several granddaughters of the noted cow, Jessie Veeman A. Mrs. Meyer has recently secured from the same herd, Jessie Veeman De Kol 2d, another grand-daughter of Jessie Veeman A., and a heifer of similar breeding to the others, and also representing an unusually high order of individual excellence. Messrs. Stevens & Hastings pronounce her one of the best heifers ever shipped from Lacona, and when it is further taken into account that her next calf will be sired by King of the Pontiacs, one of the leading young bulls at the head of Brookside herd, it will be seen that the purchase is one of more than ordinary importance. It may be added that King of the Pontiacs has the reputation of being one of the greatest young bulls of the breed living at the present time. His dam, Pontiac Lunde Hengerveld, with her production of 28.46 pounds of butter in seven days, is the largest record daughter of the world's champion A. R. O. sire, Hengerveld De Kol; and his sire is Pontiac Korndyke, whose daughter, Pontiac Rag Apple, recently made an official record as a four-year-old of 31.62 pounds of butter in seven days, which is the largest official record ever made by a heifer of her age, and the second largest ever made by a cow of any age. Inasmuch as the dam of Pontiac Rag Apple is a daughter of Hengerveld De Kol, it will be seen that she carries 75 per cent. of the same blood as King of the Pontiacs.

Representatives from Cornell Agricultural College are conducting official tests in Brookside herd almost constantly, a fact of considerable importance to intending purchasers, as it frequently happens that the value of an animal secured from this herd is largely increased by the records of others closely related. At the time of Mrs. Meyer's purchase of the young bull, Pontiac Champion, his dam had the distinction of having made 19.46 pounds of butter in seven days, under 2½ years old, which has stood as the world's champion record in this class for two years. Last June, however, this remarkable heifer was again tested, 567 days after calving, and produced over 13 pounds of butter in seven days. This record, after being in milk almost 19 months, has no parallel in the history of the breed, and when it is further considered that she is due to freshen during the present month it will be seen that she has demonstrated the staying qualities of the breed in a more remarkable manner than any other Holstein ever tested. In order to qualify for admission to the advanced register of the Holstein-Friesian Association, it is necessary for a heifer to produce, at the age of Pontiac Columbo when she was first tested, nearly 10 pounds of butter in seven days. This amount Pontiac Columbo practically doubled in her first record, and the fact that tested almost 19 months later she exceeded advanced registry requirements by more than three pounds, established her reputation as the greatest heifer the breed has ever produced, not only in capacity, but in ability to hold out. It is hardly necessary to say that this later record of Pontiac Columbo adds largely to the value of Mrs. Meyer's bull. It would certainly be a difficult matter to find one at the present time representing a stronger combination of the best breeding, or one more worthy to head a herd of pure-bred Holsteins.

Mrs. Meyer is well known in educational circles, having been school commissioner in her district some years ago, and she is now carryng out in the management of her herd the same principles of thorough administration that contributed to her success in the educational field.—Utica Press.

A Profitable Cow.

A good example of what the Holstein cow will do in the hands of the average dairy farmer is furnished by Mr. Fred C. Clark, Victoria, P. E. I. Mr. Clark writes:

"I am sending you the yearly milk record of Jacoba E., bred by Logan Bros., Amherst Point, N. S. We began weighing March 20, 1905, and weighed every milking with the exception of the week she spent at the "fair," which was estimated from previous week. Regular samples of milk were taken from six or eight consecutive milkings and tested by our creamery man, from whose figures the amount of butter is taken. As correct an account as possible was kept of feed consumed, and when charged her at the following figures, roots $2 per ton, hay $10 per ton, grain and meal $1 per hundred, and pasture and green feed $12 for season, make a total cost of $40.55. Her monthly amounts of milk were as follows: March, 464; April, 1231; May, 1170; June, 1092; July, 1208; August, 1170; September, 1003; October, 1221; November, 791; December, 638; January, 661; February, 559; March, 341; total, 11,449 lbs. milk and 515 lbs. estimated butter. Her milk at average price received at Tryon creamery, where the milk was sent, amounted to $93.70, and the skim milk at 20 cents per hundred was worth $20 more, or a total of $113.70, which, after deducting the cost of feed, leaves to her credit a total of $73.15, to say nothing of a bouncing heifer calf. I consider the use of scales and keeping a daily record of great value in a dairy herd, as I am convinced that Jacoba E. gave several thousand more than the previous year, as we were able to keep track of how she was doing, and took greater interest in the work.—Farming World.

Sleepy Hollow Herd Sold.

The famous herd of Holsteins owned by Mr. R. M. Hotaling, and known as the Sleepy Hollow herd, has been sold, together with the ranch equipment, to Mr. S. Herzog, of San Rafael. We are advised by Mr. P. H. Davis, Mr. Hotaling's manager, that it is the intention of the new owner to increase the milk stock to the limit of the facilities of the ranch, and he now desires to dispose of 100 head of heifers and bulls that are under two and a half years. Mr. Davis has been engaged to assist in these sales, and his long experience with this herd is assurance that prospective buyers will receive good attention.—Pacific Dairy Review.

The Hired Man.

Thrashing time gives you a good chance to size up your help. Some of the boys will suddenly manifest symptoms of a severe cold, or succumb to an attack of what they call indigestion; so it would never do to put them into the dust and dirt of the straw mow. However, with commendable ambition they will volunteer to drive team or help load bundles in the field, and there they stay until the worst is over.

—:o:—

A good man can be depended upon to look closely after the details in his department. An employer's time is worth too much to be spent in locating a pick-axe, stopping up a hole in the bottom of a grain box, finding out when the wagon axles were greased, or attending to the innumerable little matters that an efficient employe will always look out for.

—:o:—

Wanted—Men endowed with common sense. During the proprietor's absence a number of calf pens are to be cleaned. The instructions have been, since haying, to top dress the meadows, but the intelligent hired man knows that straw and coarse manure would interfere seriously with mowing and raking the next hay crop, so he varies the regular programme and scatters the contents of the pens on the plough land. A hundred similar illustrations might be given, but the moral of each would be the same—if you have any judgment, use it.

—:o:—

Deliver us from the man who has spells of sulking, and the man who talks too much, and the man who takes no interest in his work. Such a man may be able to do two days' work in one; he may be handy with tools—a jack of all trades, and one of the best all-around men on the farm (when he feels in the right mood)—but you don't know what minute he will go wrong; he is sure to make trouble among the rest of the help, and no matter how good a man he may be at particular times he soon will become intolerable and you will be mighty glad to see him go. Such a man never stays long in one place.

—:o:—

When you're in a big hurry yourself it's rather provoking to see your man leisurely taking his time. Snap and dash are qualities that count on the farm, especially when an important piece of work needs doing in the quickest possible time.

—:o:—

If a man wants to double his wages, his best plan is to double his efforts for the success of the business and make himself twice as valuable to his employer as any other man on the job.

—:o:—

A sunny disposition, an even temper, constancy of purpose, and all the qualities that tend to efficiency and absolute trustworthiness are to be cultivated by the employe who would achieve the greatest success, and who would some day find himself an independent landholder instead of a common hired man. —Eugene M. Hastings, Lacona, N. Y.

The Farmer as a Veterinarian.

How far can a farmer safely and profitably go in attending to his stock when they are suffering from disease and injury? The question must be answered differently in different places. In some suburban districts, where a high grade veterinarian is of easy access, the farmer's part in the matter will be that of first aid, but in remote places he must be his own doctor or let his stock go without attendance, and perhaps lose them.

What should he have for giving the necessary care to his stock? First—A case of cattle instruments such as here illustrated, containing also a milk fever apparatus. This outfit allows him to treat milk fever, obstructed teats, bloat in cattle, flatulent colic of the horse, and by means of the thermometer to ascertain the temperature of all sick animals. This represents the least the farmer must have. Second—In addition to this the "up-to-date" man will have his own tuberculin outfit for testing cattle for tuberculosis, a Garget apparatus, a dose syringe, a rectal syringe and an artificial impregnator. If this outfit, which may be obtained from George P. Pilling & Son Co., 2222 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., is well cared for it will more than repay for its cost every year, and one case of milk fever saved will pay for the entire outfit half a dozen times.

According to statistics received by the Department of Commerce and Labor there has been a very noticeable falling off both in the acreage and in the production of sugar beets in European countries. In Russia, Sweden, Spain and Italy there has been a slight increase in the acreage, but in all other countries a falling off. The increased acreage in the countries mentioned resulted in a small increase in production therein. The stattistics are taken from the report of the Belgian Statistical Bureau, and are supposed to be comparatively correct. According to the figures the acreage is as follows:

It is reported here that the President will make a most determined effort at the coming session of Congress to secure the passage of the Philippine tariff bill that was side-tracked by the Senate committee at the last session. There is no doubt the movement will meet the same vigorous opposition from tobacco and sugar growers it encountered last winter. It will be remembered that one of the arguments last winter, by those who advocated the reduction of the tariff, was to the effect that the tobacco raised in the Phillippines was of such an inferior grade it could not find a market in this country to any extent. On the other hand the tobacco-growers contended, if tobacco was admitted free, Americans would introduce into the islands American methods of cultivation, and thus materially improve the grade of the product. In regard to sugar ,the cane and the beet-growers will combine to resist the pasage of the bill. Last winter there was a division in the ranks of both parties on the question. A majority of the Democrats opposed because they wanted absolute free trade; others supported because it was in that direction. Revisionists and stand-patters divided even among themselves.

The coming session of Congress will only last until March 4, and aside from the appropriation bills not a great deal can be transacted in that short ime, but many measures of importance wil be before that body. Several important measures were held over at the last session and will likely come up again at least for discussion. Among the most important of these may be classed the bill to revive our merchant marine and the eight-hour law. The latter is of not so much moment to the agricultural classes, but the first is one of great importance. The bill was supported by the President and was promptly passed by the Senate, but was held up in the House, it has been stated, by Speaker Cannon. An American merchant marine is one of the necessities for the prompt conveyance of American products to foreign markets. American farmers and manufacturers have been handicapped because the carrying trade of the oceans has been in the hands of other nations.

Now that the law provides for denaturing alcohol, new methods of producing alcohol are being sought, as well as new materials out of which it may be extracted. The discussion may result in finding a market for much of the material now counted as waste on American farms.

Nine of M. S. Nye's Holstein Heifers Make Large A. R. O. Records.

Tested by a representative of Cornell Experiment Station, De Kol Sadie Vale, 4 years old, made 68.5 lbs. of milk in one day, 20.04 lbs. butter in 7 days; De Kol Paul Sadie, 4 years, 19.26 lbs. of butter in 7 days; Dot Monarch De Kol, 4 years, 80.5 lbs. milk in one day, 18.71 lbs. butter in 7 days. This is a sister of Dora Dot Ononis that made at 5 years 86.7 lbs. of milk in one day, 21.59 lbs. of butter in 7 days. Ononis Monarch De Kol, 4 years, 70 lbs. of milk in one day, 16.69 lbs. butter in 7 days, 75 days after calving. Bessie De Kol Paul Concordia, 3 years, 63 lbs. of milk in one day, 17 lbs. butter in 7 days. This heifer in 1905 won first prize at New York State fair and champion over all females over two years. She is full sister to De Kol Concordia, that made 18.55 lbs of butter in 7 days at two years, and 20.05 lbs. of butter in 7 days at three years, 80.4 lbs. milk in one day. Dot Monarch De Kol Paul Vale, 2 years old, 56 lbs. of milk in one day, 18.57 lbs. of butter in 7 days. Duck Homestead De Kol, 2 years, 60 lbs. milk in 1 day, 16.56 lbs. of butter in 7 days. Dot Pauline Sadie Vale, 1 year, 11 months, 71 days after calving, made 42.5 lbs. of milk in one day, 11.70 lbs. butter in 7 days. Onda Crown De Kol Vale, 1 year, 9 months, 78 days after calving, 34 lbs. of milk in one day, 9.9 lbs. of butter in 7 days.

These heifers were all bred, developed and tested by their present owner. These are believed to be the greatest producing lot of heifers ever officially tested in a bunch together; a number of them will win prizes from the Holstein Association unless the breeders make larger records this year than they have ever made before in one year.—Cortland Democrat.

Holstein World,
Ithaca, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—Enclosed find check for $9.00, in payment of enclosed invoice. Kindly change our ad. as per enclosed copy, beginning with next issue.

Referring to our advertising with you, will say our sales for the past month have reached far beyond our expectations and have included consignments to Massachusetts, Vermont, Indiana, Florida and several New York towns, some of which were influenced through our advertising with you.

We still have on hand a very choice lot of heifers and young cows, and would like very much to close out fifteen or twenty head to a quick buyer, to furnish us more room for the increase of our herd.

We are very much pleased with the results derived from our advertising with you, and will also state that your breezy little journal is read from cover to cover each issue, and we cannot say too much in favor of the black and whites as the greatest of all breeds as money-makers.

Wishing you success, we are,
Yours very truly,

Star Farm,
Cortland, N. Y., Nov. 21, 1906.

To Holstein-Friesian World,
Ithaca, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—

Sales of registered Holsteins from Star Farm are heavier now than ever before. The importance of these sales make them a subject of interest to every dairyman. Among the most important I would mention:

To Earnest Moore, of Rome, N. Y., I sold the registered bull named Belle Korndyke Lotta Prince, reg. No. 38792. This was a grand individual and richly bred, and Mr. Moore showed this bull at some of the fall fairs, taking first prize in strong competition and over older breeders.

To Mr. John D. Wilson, of Ashville, N. Y., I sold for foundation stock two grand individual registered heifers named Manor Van Friesland Aaggie, reg. No. 77219, and Aaggie Van Friesland Bona, reg. No. 77222.

To Mary F. Denmead, of Baltimore, Md., I expressed a grand service bull, named Wit Duchess Prince of Wayne, reg. No. 36159.

To Mr. C. E. Kemmier, of Bethlehem, Pa., I sold one of my best service bulls to head his herd, named Appoline De Kol America, reg. No. 61469. Another registered Star Farm service bull, named Prince Beryl Wayne Idola, reg. No. 38363, was sold to Augustus Elmandorf, of Kingston, N. Y., and still another Star Farm service bull of Mercedes breeding was shipped to Mr. G. A. Leroy, of New York.

To Mr. W. F. Vernon, of Pennsylvania, I shipped one of my richly bred Holstein cows, and to Mr. Harry H. Rheinhurst, of Spring City, Pa., I shipped a pair of young registered heifers, Hazel De Kol Pietertje, reg. No. 79803, and Wooderest Korndyke De Kol 2d, reg. No. 40334.

I realize that your columns are crowded with announcement of these sales, and for this reason I am unable to give any extended notice of the pedigrees and breeding of these animals. Suffice it to say they were all choicely bred and were typical Star Farm animals, well calculated to please the purchaser and to prove the source of profit.

All matter for publication must reach the editor by the 8th and 24th of the month to insure appearance in current issue.

Members of the Faculties of all Agricultural Colleges, and Experiment Stations; all subscribers, and anyone having anything of interest to the readers of this journal are invited to contribute to its columns.

Special Offers. The HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN WORLD to one subscriber one year on trial for 50 cents in advance. Old subscribers may renew as follows:

One renewal and one new subscription $1.00 in advance.

One renewal and two new subscriptions $1.30 in advance.

One renewal and three new subscriptions $1.50 in advance.

Thus for three new subscriptions one renewal is given free.

These special offers are made for the express purpose of extending the circulation of this paper. To all subscribers who for any reason cannot assist in this campaign, we will say that there is a standing offer at the head of this column of three years to one subscriber for $2.00 in advance; five years for $3.00 in advance. Breeders' Directory, $1.00.

Editorials.

"Get Busy." Many subscribers of the HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN WORLD have either received a statement of delinquent subscription or will receive one in the near future. We trust that no one will lay this statement aside until the matter is forgotten, but that each wll send in a remittance at his earliest convenience.

Printers do not work for "fun" any more. They expect their pay on the stroke of the clock. Any failure in this respect would endanger the appearance of the paper.

In this connection we wish to call your attention to the "Special Offer" that appears in the first column of this page. Here you will see that by sending one new subscription at the special rate of fifty cents for a trial year you can get your subscription renewed for one year at the same rate; by sending in two new subscriptions you get a renewal for one year at thirty cents; for three new subscriptions at fifty cents each you get a year's renewal free.

We wish every subscriber of this journal, and every well-wisher of the breed would look at this matter earnestly. You are not getting new subscribers simply for the sake of getting your renewal free, every new subscription advances the welfare of the breed. If you are an advertiser (and every Holstein breeder for his own direct financial interest should be represented in its columns at least to the extent of the entry of his herd in the Breeders' Directory) your labor will result in direct and immediate benefit.

Suppose that every subscriber to the HOLSTEIN-FRIESIAN WORLD should do a little missionary work among his neighbors and business acquaintances for the WORLD, can any one doubt that it would result in a flood of new subscribers? Can any one conceive that this would not be beneficial to the breed and react in a direct benefit to each breeder? A little effort from every subscriber would be a mighty power in the aggregate. We can hardly see how that any breeder can be indifferent to any paper that persistently and insistently seeks to advance the interests of the breed.

Referring to our special offer again, suppose that you are owing for the paper for two years, this at the regular rate would amount to $2.00. Put another dollar with it, making the amount $3.00. This would cancel your two years' back subscription and send the paper a whole year to six of your neighbors. This would make six additional Holstein men, if they are not already such. They would eventually join the Association and pay a $25.00 membership fee, and buy at least six Holstein bulls. But this is not all; for the extra $1.00 that you send we will enter your herd in our "Breeders' Directory" for one year without other charge. Let me recapitulate: With $3.00 you can pay up two years' back subscription, or forward subscription either, get your herd published in the Breeders' Directory for one year, and send this paper to each of six new subscribers for one year. If you get 50 cents from each new subscriber, you will be $3.00 ahead.

If you ask a man to subscribe and he tells you that he is taking Hoards' Dairyman, the Rural New Yorker, the Country Gentleman or the Register, don't commence by criticising those papers. Don't say that Hoard's Dairyman is too much Guernsey and Hoar, the Rural New Yorker mostly Spencer-seedless-apple, the Country Gentleman a little of everything and not much of anything, and that the Register never has an editorial over an inch long. These papers are all good papers, and I wouldn't have any one of these papers stopped in order to put the WORLD in its place. Rather tell your neighbor, even though he is takng all four of the above papers, that the WORLD will be worth more to him in a year than the price of subscription, and that if at the end of the year he does not think so, the editor has agreed to refund his subscription money on return of the papers, postage prepaid. Now, gentlemen, "get busy."

Liberty.

What man is there so bold that he should say:
"Thus and thus only would I have the sea?"
For whether lying calm and beautiful,
Clasping the earth in love, and throwing back
The smile of heaven from waves of amethyst;
Or whether, freshened by the busy winds,
It bears the trade and navies of the world
To ends of use and stern activity;
Or whether, lashed by tempests, it gives way
To elemental fury, howls and roars
At all its rocky barriers, in wild lust
Of ruin drinks the blood of living things,
And strews its wrecks o'er leagues of desolate shore—
Alwyas it is the sea, and all bow down
Before its vast and varied majesty.
And so in vain will timorous men assay
To set the metes and bounds of liberty,
For freedom is its own eternal law;
It makes its own conditions, and in storm
Or calm alike fulfills the unerring will.
Let us not then despise it when it lies
Still as a sleeping lion, while a swarm
Of gnat-like evils hover around its head,
Nor doubt it when in mad, disjointed times
It shakes the torch of terror, and its cry
Shrills o'er the quaking earth, and in the flame
Of riot and war we see its awful form
Rise by the scaffold, where the crimson axe
Rings down its grooves the knell of shuddering kings,
For always in thine eyes, O Liberty,
Shines that light whereby the world is saved,
And, though, thou slay us, we will trust in thee. —John Hay.

Conscript of 1813.

Translated from the French by the editor of the H.-F. World.

But that which remains uppermost in my mind, that which I can never forget, should I live a hundred years, it was when far away I thought I heard the sound of words. Oh! how it aroused me . . . how I listened . . . how I raised myself upon my arm to cry for help! It was yet night; nevertheless a little of day already streaked the sky; far away, through the rain that filled the air, a light moved in the midst of the field; it moved at random, stopping here and there, and I saw some dark forms bending down; they were only confused shadows, but others beside myself saw this light, for on all sides sighs arose in the night, plaintive cries, voices so feeble that one would have said of little children who called their mother.

What is life? Of what does it consist that one attaches to it so great price? This miserable breath that brings us so many tears, so much suffering. Why do we fear to lose it more than all else? That we keep it to the last, the least fare of death causing all in us to shudder?

Who knows? Men have asked from century to century; all think upon it, but none can answer.

In my desire for life I looked to this light as a drowning man looks to the shore; my heart palpitated with hope. I tried to cry, but my voice went no farther than my lips; the noise of the rain in the trees and on the roofs drowned all. In spite of this I said to myself: "They will hear me . . they will come!" I seemed to see the lantern ascend the path of the garden, and the light grow brighter at each step, but after wandering about some time it slowly entered a fold in the ground and disapeared.

Then I fell back unconscious.

It was at the end of a long shed—posts all around—that I returned to myself. Some one gave me a drink of wine and of water. On opening my eyes I saw an old soldier with gray mustaches, who raised my head and held the goblet to my lips.

"Ah, well," said he to me, with an air of good humor, "this is better?" And I could not help smiling at him to think that I was still alive. My breast and left shoulder was solidly bandaged, and I felt there a burning sensation, but this was no matter—I lived!

At first I regarded the great beams that formed a network above me, and the tiles, where the day entered in many a place; then I turned my head and recognized that I was in one of those vast sheds where the brewers of the country store their casks and their wagons. All around, upon mattresses and piles of straw, were rows of wounded, and towards the middle, upon a large kitchen table, a surgeon and his two aids, with their sleeves rolled up, were amputating the leg of some soldier; the wounded man was groaning. Behind them was a heap of arms and legs, and each can imagine for himself the ideas that passed through my head.

Five or six infantry soldiers were giving drink to the wounded; they had pitchers and goblets.

But that which made the most impresion upon me was the surgeon in shirt sleeves, who worked without hearing anything; he had a great nose and wrinkled cheeks, and complained at each minute against the aids, who gave him not quickly enough the knife, the pincers, the lint or the bandage, or who removed not immediately the blood with the sponge. This went on nevertheless not badly, for in less than a quarter of an hour they had already amputated two legs.

Outside, against, the posts, was placed a great wagon load of straw.

Just as they had placed upon the table a Russian rifleman, six feet or thereabouts in height, the neck pierced with a ball near the ear, and as the surgeon called for the little knife another surgeon passed before the shed, a cavalry surgeon, fat, short and pock-pitted. He held a portfolio under his arm and stopped near the wagon.

"Hi, Fore!" cried he in a joyous tone.

"What, is it you, Duchene?" replied the other turning round. "How many wounded?"

"Seventeen or eighteen thousand."

"The devil! Ah, well! Are you getting on this morning?"

"Yes; but I am now looking for a public house."

Our surgeon left the shed to press the hand of his comrade; they conversed tranquilly while the aids took a glass of wine, and the Russian rolled his eyes with an air of despair.

"You have only to descend the street, Duchene . . . in front of the well. You see?"

"Very well."

"Just in front you will find the canteen."

"Ah, good . . . thanks! . . . I am off."

The one started off and the other cried to him:

"Good appetite, Duchene!"

Then he returned to the side of the Russian, who awaited him, and commenced by opening his neck from his head to his shoulder. He worked with an air of bad humor, and said to the aids:

"Come now, gentlemen, come now!"

The Russian groaned, as one can imagine; but the surgeon paid no attention, and finally, throwing a ball on the ground, he put a bandage on him and said:

"Take him away!"

The soldiers lifted the Russian from the table and laid him upon the straw in the row with the others, and brought forward his neighbor.

BULLS TILL WE CAN'T REST

We will just mention a few, perhaps some of them will come in your class, it so we will be pleased to give you a complete description, full breeding, color markings and lowest price

1 Brookside Pontiac Chief born April 13, '06. Sire, A & G Prince Pietertje De Kol. His dam, sire's dam and sire's sire's dam all have creditable records. Dam, Pontiac Clothilde Hengerveld, without question one of the greatest of our thirty odd Hengerveld De Kol daughters. At 4 years old she averaged over 5 per cent. fat for one week, and last spring produced 22.57 lbs. butter in 7 days, one of the most persistent milkers in the herd. She is a full sister to the dam of the great Pontiac Rag Apple, the greatest cow on earth. We believe the dam of Brookside Pontiac Chief is capable of 25 lbs. and over when she again freshens. Without doubt she is as good a cow as we ever owned.

2. Brookside Topsy Paul born May 13, '06. Sire, De Kol 2d's Mutual Paul, son of De Kol 2d, who has done more for the breed than any other cow. De Kol 2d's Mutual Paul is proving a great sire. He already has a yearling daughter with nearly 16¼ lbs. to her credit, a 3-year-old with 25½ lbs., and many others with large records. He is the leading service bull at our Liverpool Farms. Dam, Topsy De Kol Burke, 15.6 lbs. in 7 days at 2 years, 1 month. She is by De Kol Burke and our Aaggie Topsy De Kol, with 29.57 lbs. in 7 days, and 113.96 lbs. in 30 days, making her fourth largest record cow in the world. Many times she has taken the Association's first prize both in 7 and 30 day tests. The "Topsy" family is fast coming to the front.

3. Brookside Admiral Corona born April 3, '06. Sire, Admiral Mercedes De Kol; his dam and sire's dam each have over 24 lbs. to their credit. Dam, Empress Corona De Kol, 15.42 lbs. in 7 days at 3 years. She was sired by a son of Sadie Vale Concordia, 30.64 lbs. in 7 days, and 104 lbs. milk in one day.

4. Brookside Sir Jantje formerly at the head of Mr. Moyer's herd, then a born Oct. 7, '05. Sire, Sir Korndyke Manor De Kol, year in our herd and now at the head of the herds of H. H. Waite and Henry Stevens & Son. His dam has 24.4 lbs. in 7 days; her dam, Belle Korndyke, 25.77 lbs. He was sired by De Kol 2d's Butter Boy 3d. Dam, Anna Jantje (Imported), at 3 years 19.72 lbs. Selected in Holland by Mr. T. A. Mitchell and Mr. Ward W. Stevens. Believed to be as good as any of the 50 head imported.

5. King of the Veemans born April 29, '05. A show animal. Sire, De Kol 2d's Butter Boy 3d. Dam, Jessie Veeman A., 26¼ lbs. in 7 days. She has 6 A. R. O. daughters, and is the foundation cow of one of the best families of the breed. It would take a whole page to do this bull justice.

6. Prince Lilith Netherland born Feb. 12, '06. Sire, Lilith Pauline De Kol Beryl. His dam is a 28 lb. 4-year-old, who also has many other large records, and believed by many the best daughter of the famous De Kol 2d's Paul De Kol. Dam, Moneta Pietertje Netherland, 19.45 lbs. at 3 years. She was eleventh in class for 3 to 3½ year olds last year.

7. Prince Midland Waldorf born April 23, '06. Sire, Beryl Wayne Paul Waldorf; his dam 22¼ lbs., sire's dam 27⅞ lbs., sire's sire's dam 26.57 lbs. Dam, 17.97 lbs. Her dam, sire's dam and sire's sire's dam, all have good records. She is a sister to Mesrs. Fields' De Kol Creamelle, and in breeding and as an individual is one of the best daughters of Pietertje Hengerveld's Count De Kol.

We are averaging to sell a bull a day, but still have over 60 on hand. We are sure we can suit you both in quality and price.

With the exception of No. 5, the dams of the bulls mentioned are young, and we have every reason to believe will increase their present records.

We test nearly all of our cows, as they come fresh. Seven have made from 20 to 24¾ lbs. These all had bull calves.

STEVENS BROS.-HASTINGS COMPANY,

Lacona and Liverpool, N. Y.

FAIRVIEW FARM Offers some choice young A. R. O. Cows, fresh and nearly springers. Also a few extra well-bred Bulls at very reasonable prices. Come and see them. O. J. Godfrey & Co., Pennellville, Oswego Co., N. Y. N. B—Members of this herd won more last year in 8 months class than those of any other herd. Aaltje Salo Mercedes De Kol Prince No. 39,357 heads our herd. Seven of his nearest dams including dam and sire's dam, at 4 years, have official 7 day records above 25 pounds butter each.

Two Machines in One

"OHIO" Shredder or Cutter—only difference is in cutting knives and shredding blades, which are interchangeable on all "OHIO" machines otherwise same capacity, same speed, same power—nothing extra but blades. Least cost, best results. "Ohio" Shredder shreds perfectly—doesn't pulverize and waste leaves—just splits and tears them. Blower or Carrier Elevators handle material perfectly. Power—2 to 16 h. p. according to size. Many other good points. Send for Catalog. Get wise.
